We will welcome up to 20 doctoral researchers at the summer school, who are currently undertaking PhD research in the field of career guidance and counselling:

- About half of the doctoral researchers will be selected and proposed individually by the organisers and participating lecturers of the summer school.
- Approximately 10 doctoral researchers will be selected centrally by a selection committee upon their application (see selection criteria). Early registration is highly recommended. Only those applicants who have submitted all required documents will be considered by the selection committee. A second call will only be made, if there are still free seats available.

Important dates:

- Early Registration (recommended): February, 15, 2018
- Registration Deadline: March, 30, 2018
- Summer School: June, 11-15, 2018

2. MINIMUM CRITERIA FOR PARTICIPATION

The selection committee will check the eligibility of all applicants, whether they apply themselves or are selected by partners, based on:

- Their actual enrolment as PhD students at a university
- The relevance of their research project for the broad field of career guidance and counselling

3. CRITERIA FOR CENTRALIZED SELECTION

The selection committee will make its decisions based on the criteria described below, under the condition that applicants meet the minimum criteria (Section 2). There is no appeal procedure and all decisions are final.

NETWORK FOR INNOVATION IN CAREER GUIDANCE & COUNSELLING IN EUROPE

EUROPEAN SOCIETY FOR VOCATIONAL DESIGNING AND CAREER COUNSELING

In addition to these criteria, the selection committee may decide to add additional criteria to make fair decisions.

a) Geographic Criteria: Among suitable applicants, absolute priority will be given to ensure the broadest possible geographic diversity of doctoral researchers. The geographic selection will solely be made based on where the university, where a PhD researcher is enrolled, is located. The nationality of participants is of no relevance for the selection of PhD candidates.

b) Preference Criteria: Where a decision needs to be made among several candidates, following preference criteria will be considered: Participants' academic and professional publications, research or teaching experience related to career guidance and counselling, professional practice of career guidance and counselling, participation at prior summer schools of ECADOC (or waiting list), involvement in international research collaboration, and early registration on the Summer School.

c) Diversity Criteria: The committee may also consider criteria, which ensure a balance of the people involved, e.g., in terms of the mix of academic disciplines, different phases of PhD study, gender diversity, ethnic and cultural diversity, and age diversity.

4. DOCUMENTS FOR SUBMISSION

All selected/ interested PhD researchers need to submit:

- The filled-out application form
- Their CV in English
- A 1-2 pages description of their doctoral research project, illustrating its relevance for the field of career guidance and career counselling
- An actual certificate of enrolment as a PhD student (scanned copy) or other verification of enrolment in a PhD programme.

The documents need to be submitted by electronic copy only. All applications must be submitted to Dr Nikos Drosos, by March 30, 2018 via the email-address: nikdrosos4@gmail.com
